

How Identity Theft Protection for Union Members Saves Money...

Identity Theft can be incredibly disruptive for both individuals and their employers. As THE top complaint to the FTC (Federal Trade Commission) and with high profile data breaches being announced every day, employers and employees are looking for affordable solutions to this epidemic.

The numbers are huge too. Millions of Americans have their identity stolen every year and in 2021, $56 billion dollars was stolen from Americans via identity fraud.

When Your Member Gets Their Identity Stolen...

Studies have shown it can take 80-100 hours to “self resolve” a case of identity theft. Calling creditors, the IRS, your bank, doctor’s office – any place else a fraudulent ID may have been used – all takes time. A lot of time! Filling in paperwork, dealing with the police.

Most of these calls must be done during the workday. Members often have to take time off from work, frantically make calls during their lunch hours and just be plain distracted.

More and more Unions have chosen to offer identity theft repair and resolution to their members as a workplace benefit. Offering this service is actually a benefit for both the Union and the member. Members feel valued and protected by receiving a benefit that they can really use (does anyone really need another roadside assistance card?)

Although there clearly is no way to completely prevent identity theft, members and employees often become more aware of how to safeguard their personal private information, which in turn leads them to develop good habits and leads them to be better able to safeguard the business' private information.

At ID Resolution, we work with Unions to offer this benefit, educate employees about how to keep their identity safe and generally raise awareness in the workplace about the dramatic impact the loss of PII (Personally Identifiable Information) can cause.

Another benefit is that even if an employee or members identity is stolen, having identity theft repair and restoration as an available benefit allows the employee or member to offload the bulk of the work in resolving the theft. This, of course, makes them more productive and not distracted!

With increasing healthcare costs taking a toll on member benefits, many Unions are looking for good, low cost additions to their benefit packages. ID Resolution’s repair and restoration service is a benefit that is relevant and extremely affordable (under $5 per year!) Shouldn’t you be looking at it?
