Maintain Periodic Contact for Your Account

State unclaimed property laws require Harbor Funds to turn over the assets in a registered account to the state if periodic contact on the account is not made, which is referred to as "abandoned." Our records indicate that you have not contacted Harbor Funds within the last year. Although state requirements vary on the number of years after which an account would be considered abandoned, Harbor Funds recommends that you establish contact with us at least once a year to eliminate the risk of your assets being turned over to the state.
